

Effects of the intervention on one-year mortality

doi:10.1234/demo.1

Methods

We randomly assigned adults admitted with severe disease to the intervention or to usual care.

Results

The intervention reduced all-cause mortality at one year in the treated group.

Conclusion

One-year survival is improved in the treated population.